DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 3-5, 13-16, 30-34, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bouet, (US 6,879,810).

As per claims 3-5, 13-16, 30-34, and 37, Bouet teaches a portable device for device-to-device data transfer (Fig. 2a), comprising:

- (a) a non-volatile memory (ROM, 116) for storing the data; and
- (b) a single device interface (122 via 120) for enabling the data to be transferred between the portable device and another portable device;

wherein operations of both the portable device and said other portable device, with respect to the data, are restricted to data storage and transfer; and wherein the portable device is operative to function as a stand alone device while exchanging the data with said other portable device; and wherein said single device interface is a sole interface of the portable device for data exchange between the portable device and any other device. (Abstract, cols. 2-7)

Claims 3-5, 13-16, 30-34, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Buek et al. (US 5,797,085), previously cited as prior art.

As per claims 3-5, 13-16, 30-34, and 37, Buek teaches a portable device for device-to-device data transfer (Figs. 1 and 2), comprising:

- (a) a non-volatile memory for storing the data; and
- (b) a single device interface (Figs. 1 and 2) for enabling the data to be transferred between the portable device and another portable device;

wherein operations of both the portable device and said other portable device, with respect to the data, are restricted to data storage and transfer; and wherein the portable device is operative to function as a stand alone device while exchanging the data with said other portable device; and wherein said single device interface is a sole interface of the portable device for data exchange between the portable device and any other device. (Abstract, cols. 2-15)
